Additional Taxes Seen Under New School Bill

LANSING (AP) — Challenged by the governor to carve out a brave new world for education, the Michigan House today groped toward a decision on a radical plan to raise nearly $530 million more taxes for school aid in an economically gloomy election year. Proposed by Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Atica, the plan calls for a 1971-72 school aid appropriation of $1.37 billion and some $434 million more in new taxes than the $949-million, revised school aid budget that Gov. William G. Milliken outlined last month.

House Speaker William A. Ryan said Spencer's plan could come up for a vote sometime today, although there were indications of further efforts to modify the cost and severity of tax features in it. Predicated on a substantial shift in taxes from property to individual and corporate income, the plan details funds for parochial schools as well as for public schools.

Property Taxes Out

The effect of the program, which Spencer admits is aimed as much at tax reform as increased school aid, begins by eliminating property and city income tax credits now allowed on state income taxes.

That tax, at the same time, would jump from 2.6 per cent to 4 per cent on individual income and from 5.6 per cent to 8.6 per cent on corporations. The state cigarette tax would be raised — as it would under Milliken's plan — and numerous exemptions would be cut out of state sales and use taxes.

Spencer contends the only difference between his plan and the governor's is that Milliken "said we'll pass this until after the election. I've concluded we cannot wait two years and I've inserted the taxes now."

In a vote last week that was killed before it could be recorded, legislators on both sides of the aisle demonstrated a surprisingly strong support for the plan. Estimates of the plurality ranged from 60 to 70 of the total 110-member House.

No One Pleading

Disenchantment, however, began to set in over the weekend as legislators attempted to calculate the impact of Spencer's plan on their own school districts and constituents' pocketbooks. By Monday, second thoughts were being heard.

"I think we're misinterpreting the message," said Rep. James F. Smith, R-Davison. "No one's pleading with me to raise his taxes."

Many Democrats agreed, calling for a test vote on Spencer's companion tax bill before committing themselves to the increased school spending measure.

Nixon Proposes Lower Voting Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration asked Congress today to follow the lead of Great Britain and approve a constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18 for federal elections.

The administration position was presented by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, who noted that Britain—which originated the traditional voting age of 21—recently abandoned it.

"The time has come for us also to measure the constraints of custom and tradition against the compelling force of reason and the every-day facts of life which surround us," Kleindienst said.

He told a Senate judiciary subcommittee the nation does not wait until 21 years of age for young people to enter the labor market, to pay income taxes or to serve in the military.

Kleindienst also suggested a uniform voting age of 18 is necessary if Congress clears another amendment, already approved by the House, for direct election of presidents and vice presidents by popular vote.

"Without a nationwide rule," he said, "it is possible that states would arbitrarily lower the age requirement to insure the largest number of prospective voters and thus obtain an unfair share of the presidential popular vote—completely out of line with its percentage of population."

Answering arguments of amendment opponents who cite involvement of college students in violent demonstrations, Kleindienst said "the proper response" to that objection is threefold:

—Many persons involved in campus rebellions "are well past the age of 21."

—Those who have engaged in disturbances "represent only a small percentage" of young Americans.

—Giving youth a role in the political process "may eliminate a sense of frustration, a feeling of noninvolvement, that quite possibly has contributed to the irresponsible behavior" of some young people.

The proposed amendment would only affect elections for president, vice president, U.S. senators and members of the House of Representatives.

Today's Chuckle

It's sad to realize that 20 years from now all of today's beautiful young women will be five years older.

Deadlock Hinted As Jury Deliberates Fourth Day

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury began its fourth day of deliberations today on the guilt or innocence of seven men charged with riot conspiracy. The inability of the jurors to reach a quick verdict prompted defense speculation of an ultimate deadlock.

Meanwhile, a legal defense team began Monday the process of appealing the contempt sentences given the defendants and their two lawyers over the weekend by Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U. S. District Court.

Thomas P. Sullivan, a Chicago lawyer, filed with the U. S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals a notice seeking relief from the sentences. The notice serves as a way to free the defendants on bond pending the lengthy appeals procedures. Sullivan said he hoped an extensive brief in support of the appeal could be filed by Thursday.

Although the defendants are being held in the Cook County jail until the jury reaches a verdict, their lawyers, William M. Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass, remain free. The judge stayed their sentences to May 4 to allow them to perform legal duties for their clients.

Five-Month Trial

The jury of 10 men and 2 women recessed their deliberations at 5:30 p.m., Monday, several hours earlier than they retired the previous two nights. The five-month trial, involving nearly 200 witnesses and requiring 20,000 pages of testimony, went to the jury shortly after noon Saturday.

The jurors set their own hours and they are not bound by Judge Hoffman's suggestion that they confer until about 10 p.m. each night.

Defense Hopes High

Earlier Tuesday, Kunstler told a news conference that the length of the jury's deliberations raised defense hopes for a deadlocked jury.

Kunstler said he and Weinglass hoped the jurors were not going to free some defendants while convicting others. "We want all convictions, all acquittals or a hung jury," he said.

The defendants are charged with violating the 1968 federal antiriot law by conspiring to cross state lines with the intent to incite riots at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

In addition, five defendants are charged with a second count of crossing state lines to incite rioting and the other two defendants are charged with teaching the use of an incendiary device.

10 Years Possible

If convicted on both counts, each man could be sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $20,000.

Despite speculation that the length of the jury's deliberations might indicate a deadlock, the delay might be attributed to the massive amount of evidence and exhibits presented during the trial which began Sept. 24.

Suspected VC Positions Hit

SAIGON, (AP) — American B52 bombers dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese positions along the Cambodian border southwest of the Ben Het Special Forces camp, military spokesmen reported today.

Some 30 of the bombers flew the raids in the central highlands late Monday, apparently to prevent a siege of the Special Forces camp similar to one last May and June.

During the past four weeks, the B52s have hit the region with more than 1,600 tons of bombs a week to harass and disrupt North Vietnamese forces that may be preparing for attacks in the highlands.

"You don't do that unless there's significant enemy activity, possibly geared up for an attack in the area," said a spokesman for the U.S. Command. "If the B52s did what we wanted we'll never see an attack materialize."

One informed source said elements of two North Vietnamese regiments, the 66th and 28th, were concentrated in the Ben Het-Cambodian border region, in the northern Central Highlands about 275 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

WILLIAM M. KUNSTLER, left, and Leonard I. High Court Plans Disorder Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court takes a timely look next week at the tumult and shouting in the nation's courtrooms as it hears arguments on how a judge may deal with an unruly defendant.

Does the Constitution permit the judge to throw a defendant out of the courtroom? Order him bound and gagged? Or should the judge seat him in a soundproof booth where he can see and hear but not be heard?

These same constitutional questions raised in the Chicago 7 conspiracy trial will be examined in an otherwise routine armed holdup case from Chicago involving a man named William Allen who already has been paroled after 12 years in prison.

The Allen and Chicago 7 cases are connected in that Judge Julius J. Hoffman relied on a ruling that actually favored Allen to bind and gag Black Panther leader Bobby G. Seale before he was sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Hoffman later declared a mistrial in Seale's case and severed his trial from the other seven defendants.

Hoffman last weekend also sentenced to jail for varying terms the remaining seven defendants for contempt of court because of outbursts during the trial. The judge sentenced as well two defense attorneys for contempt. All have said they will appeal.

Allen, whose defense was insanity, disrupted the Cook County trial room by tearing up his file, arguing with the judge and advising him at one point: "When I go out for lunchtime, you're going to be a corpse."

Not since 1884 has the Supreme Court ruled directly on the guarantee granted defendants in the Sixth Amendment to confront their accusers—the fundamental right to be present at one's own trial.

In that decision, Justice John Marshall Harlan, grandfather of the present Justice Harlan, said for the court: "If he be deprived of his life or liberty without being so present, such deprivation would be without due process of law required by the Constitution."

Illinois will contend at Tuesday's hearing that Allen waived this right by his own boisterous conduct. Allen's lawyer, H. Reed Harris of Chicago, will argue that except for a voluntary absence from court once trial begins, this right cannot be waived.

Contempt Sentences Irk Demonstrators

By The Associated Press

Violence flared during demonstrations in California and New York against jail sentences imposed on seven Chicago riot conspiracy defendants and their attorneys for contempt of court.

An estimated 2,000 persons threw rocks, wood, bottles and chunks of ice in New York and about 1,000 persons fought police and smashed plate glass windows in downtown Berkeley, Calif., on Monday.

Earlier in the day an estimated 2,000 persons attended a peaceful rally in San Francisco where speakers denounced U.S. Dist. Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman for the weekend sentences in the Chicago trial.

Berkeley police reported six officers injured and 13 persons arrested after four hours of rain-pelted encounters in the streets.

One officer was stomped on the head when a small group turned on him, another wound up with a broken arm, and several were hit in the face with bricks and other flying objects. One policeman received glass fragments in his eyes.

In New York, a demonstration sponsored by the Fifth Avenue Vietnam Peace Parade Committee marched from City Hall to the Criminal Court Building, site of a hearing for 13 Black Panthers on charges of conspiring to kill policemen and bomb public buildings.

Fifteen were arrested after a melee in which several policemen and news photographers were injured.

The Berkeley demonstration featured a nine-foot effigy of Judge Hoffman. When a policeman man tried to haul it down, the crowd surged along a street, breaking store windows over a nine-block area and pelting policemen with sticks and stones.

The crowd stayed together for an hour, blocking traffic near the University of California, then broke into small groups that roamed the streets for another three hours breaking windows and at times attacking isolated policemen.

Judiciary OK Of Carswell Hit By Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee's strong endorsement of G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the Supreme Court has brought on tough-worded attacks from civil rights and labor leaders but no indication of major Senate reaction against the South-eastern judge.

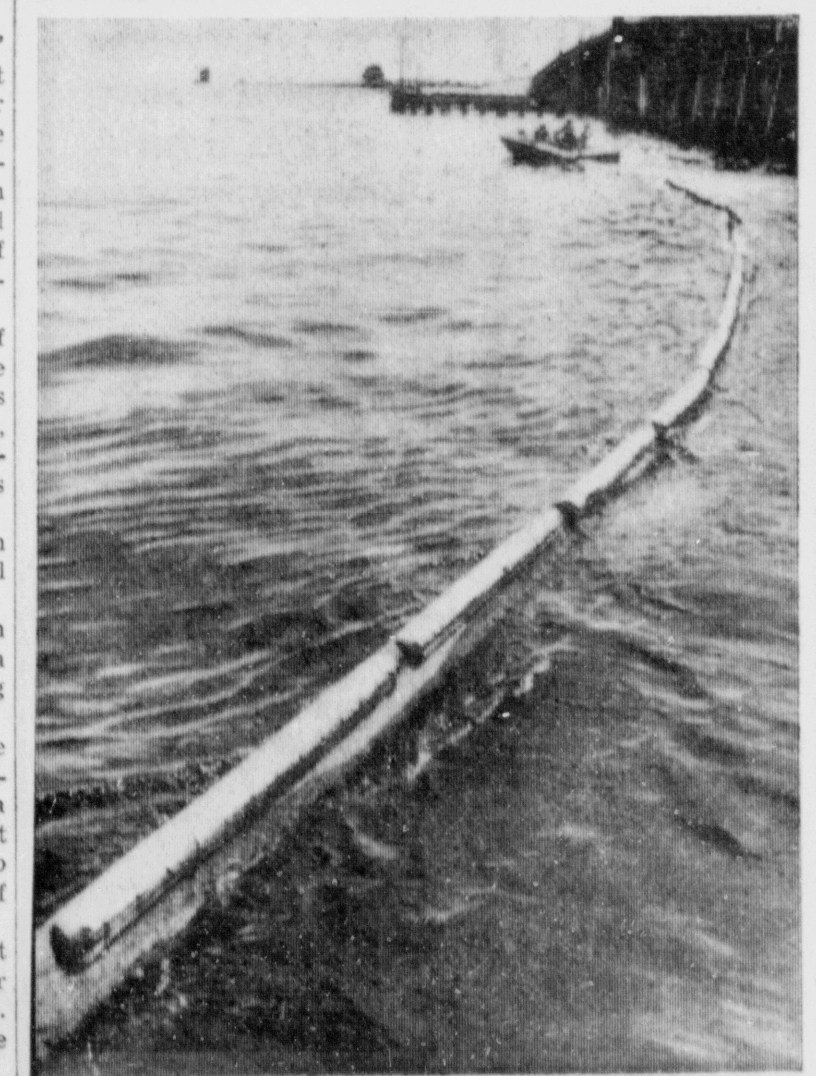

The committee's 13-4 vote Monday was immediately assailed by Clarence Mitchell, director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's Washington office and spokesman for the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, and the AFL-CIO.

The committee's support was "a kick in the teeth of those of us who have sought to quell the fires of racism among Negroes in the United States," Mitchell said.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., one of those who voted against the Tallahassee, Fla., federal judge, said Carswell's appointment would "encourage violent extremists."

The AFL-CIO meeting in Miami Beach issued a statement saying the prospect of Carswell, now a judge on the U.S. 5th Court of Appeals, being confirmed to the highest court in the land was "appalling."

"Such a nomination is an insult, both to the judiciary and to the nation's citizens," the labor organization said.

THE U. S. COAST GUARD uses a 1,000-foot long boom, made of plastic foam strung together by ropes with plastic "teeth" extending into the water, to block oil heading out of Tampa Bay into the Gulf of Mexico. The incident took place after a Greek tanker ran aground off the Florida coast and dumped 5,000 gallons of oil into the bay. The oil spread to a 20-square-mile area as wind and tide pushed it into St. Petersburg. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Drops Spy Charges; Russ Told To Leave

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The United States dropped spy charges Monday against a Russian United Nations employee on the condition that he leave this country today.

U.S. Commissioner Walter A. Reesburg Jr. signed the order dropping the charges on the motion of U.S. Attorney Stan Pitkin.

In Washington, a statement issued by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the decision to drop the charges was made at the request of the State Department after consultation with the Justice Department.

The Russian, Aleksandr V. Tikhomirov, 37, has been free on $75,000 bail since Wednesday while awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of conspiracy to commit espionage. The FBI said he was arrested in Seattle Feb. 7 after an unidentified U.S. Air Force technical sergeant said Tikhomirov gave him $300 and asked for information on anti-aircraft and missile defenses in the Pacific Northwest.

"It is in the best interest of the foreign policy of the U.S. government that the defendant be allowed to depart for the U.S.S.R.," Pitkin said after the order was signed by Reesburg.

The federal attorney refused to comment on what official secrets Tikhomirov was accused of obtaining, and would say only that the decision to allow the Russian to leave was fully discussed by top officials of the State and Justice departments. Tikhomirov was held for four days in the Seattle City Jail after his arrest on a downtown Seattle street.

City Nuisance Law Invoked:

C&NW Named Defendant
In Citizens' Complaints

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Escanaba's northside residents, impatient and angry over a dust, noise and fumes situation, today took first steps to bring the Chicago & North Western Railway into court to answer to nuisance charges.

Three among about 40 North Escanaba residents signed their names to complaints alleging the North Western is violating the city's nuisance ordinance.

Signing as complainants were Mike Kolich of 1330 Sheridan Rd., Earl Reno of 1406 N. 16th St., and Joe Sabor of 1609 N. 16th St.

Other citizens in the group that first talked with City Attorney Robert E. LeMire and then, at his suggestion, proceeded to the District Court in the County Building, said they also were willing to sign complaints. This is unnecessary, they were told.

Warrants Next

The city attorney said the city ordinance covers all aspects of nuisance including odors, fumes, noise, dust and so forth; that it is a misdemeanor statute only, however; and that the ordinance provides for a penalty upon conviction of $100 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

The issuance of warrants was authorized by the city attorney; the District Court then issues the actual warrants; and these are then served upon the proper officials of the North Western Railway.

"These officials will no doubt contact their legal advisors, a date will be set for trial, and I will be asking you people as individuals to testify," City Attorney LeMire told the group of irate citizens.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will meet tonight at 8 p.m. at the club.

The Holy Name Drama Club will present its 4th annual musical "Once Upon A Mattress," March 8, 9, 10 and 11, at the school.

The city hall will be closed all day on Monday because of Washington's birthday falling on the previous Sunday. This will not affect the regular collection of garbage.

A square dance workshop will be held at the Civic Center tonight at 7:30. Elmer Walker will conduct the workshop and all square dancers are welcome to attend.

Henry Levesque, 122 S. 5th St., Wells, reported to State Police that someone took a green tool box with an assortment of tools from his garage recently. Troopers are investigating the incident.

Escanaba police are investigating the theft of a $700 walkie-talkie radio from a building in the Chicago & North Western Railway yards over the weekend. The building was broken into.

Traffic court notices have been issued by Escanaba police to Sophia E. Blahnik, Bark River Rte. 2, improper backing, and to Barbara E. Plath, Portage Point, failing to exercise due care.

The Community Indoor Ice Arena campaign received another boost today when Harry Krebs, manager of the Burger Chef, announced that he will contribute all sales from 4 to 9 p.m. Wednesday to the ice arena fund. The telephone kicking off the fund-raising drive last weekend raised over $10,000.

"This is not a very effective thing we are doing here today," he added in reference to the proceedings under the city ordinance.

To Ask Injunction

John Walbridge, Amer Pederson and Ray Sabuco of the Delta County Citizens to Save Our Air Committee were with the group of North Escanaba residents when they called first at the office of the city attorney and then moved to the District Court office.

"They came to see us, asking our help and guidance," said Walbridge.

The Save Our Air legal advisors suggested they proceed under the city ordinance, since that is the only existing law covering the situation here, Walbridge added.

"This is only the first step," he continued. "It is preliminary to seeking a temporary injunction in Circuit Court to have the North Western Railway cease and desist from its operation of the terminal."

Cooling Effect

"The individual law suits will follow to cover the damages incurred by the residents of the area," Walbridge said.

The elevation to the courts of the controversy will hopefully have a quieting effect on a situation that was becoming increasingly explosive.

The "cool it" effect was discernible today after the group met with the city attorney and with him went through steps necessary to bring the North Western into court for alleged violation of the city ordinance. What began as an altercation developed into a more understanding and communicative exchange at the County Building.

Temper of the crowd was high and LeMire told them "I sympathize with you and if I lived up there I would be doing something about it, before this. You should get together and obtain the counsel of an attorney to represent you."

He said that "I have never before been approached on this."

Cited By State

Tension over the months of continuing pollution of the area by the operation of the North Western's new ore terminal erupted on Saturday into an incident that brought city police to the C&NW yards.

Residents gathered and there was an argument with one of the railway employees. Officers reported that threats had been made against one employee.

Police ordered the people off the C&NW premises and told them to leave the railway workers alone.

The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission has cited the C&NW for its pollution and set March 17 for submission by the Railway of final plans for pollution control.

Summer Science Camp Looks To 4th Season

Three years ago, Summer Science, Inc., wasn't much more than a group of people with an idea.

Today, Summer Science, Inc., is looking forward to its fourth summer of camping on Big Summer Island, about three miles off the tip of the Garden Peninsula.

The camp now has 11 buildings, including a $60,000 lodge financed by a grant from the Kresge Foundation, and a growing reputation in the academic community, according to Dan Stevens of Ann Arbor, president of Summer Science, Inc.

Stevens spoke to the Escanaba Kiwanis Club at noon Monday and later addressed the evening meeting of the Escanaba Lions Club.

Stevens came to the area to check the camp, which has been closed since last fall, and along with a crew of men worked Sunday to shovel the heavy winter accumulation of snow off the roofs of camp buildings to prevent damage.

He said the camp still has some problems—operating capital, money for scientific equipment and a need for a permanent all-weather dock—but since its founding considerable progress has been made.

Interest Shown

He said students in the Escanaba area have begun to show some interest in the camp and the Escanaba Rotary Club will sponsor two full scholarships, one to a student from Escanaba Area High School and the other to a student from Holy Name High School, worth a total of $800 this summer.

The camp program is designed to provide science research experiences for junior and senior high school students with an interest in science. Under supervision of university scientists, camp students work on various research problems dealing with the island environment with the scientists.

Stevens presented slides of the island's buildings and activities of the students and teachers. Probably the most sensational was the discovery of an Indian grave, producing the skeleton of an Indian who had carried a flint arrowhead in his chest for some time, as shown by the bone growth around the arrowhead. The students also work on aquatic, geological, and botanical aspects of the island.

Holy Name In Debate Tourney

The Holy Name High School Varsity Debate Team, participating in the Upper Peninsula Class B District Debate championship tournament, was one of four top schools to compete in semi-final tournament action, Saturday, Feb. 14.

The tournament, sponsored by Northern Michigan University was held on the university campus, Feb. 13-14, with more than 20 schools entered in competition.

Holy Name's varsity debate squad consisted of affirmative speakers Pat Saykily and Mary Gail Schram, and negative speakers Mary Ryan and Kris Sankovitch.

In tournament debate on Friday, Feb. 13, each pairing won two of their three debates, posting a four-win-two-loss record for the day. This standing qualified the team to debate on Saturday as one of the four top Upper Peninsula high schools. The other schools were Newberry, Negaunee, and Ishpeming.

By a flip-of-the-coin decision on Saturday, the semi-final round saw the Holy Name affirmative team pitted against the Negaunee negative. Holy Name lost the debate by a 2-1 decision and Negaunee went on to debate Ishpeming and win the finals.

In recognition of their debating ability, each varsity speaker from HN was presented with a book at a banquet held for all the participating schools.

Junior varsity affirmative debaters, Linda Christiansen and Mike Wren; and negative speakers, Bill St. Martin, Jim Wren, and alternate Mike Sheedlo posted a three-win-three-loss record on Friday. Linda Christiansen received a certificate of excellence for her speaking ability.

Both varsity and junior varsity debate teams from Holy Name are coached by Sister Henriette.

sessions, while the second year comprises an eight week course. At present, the camp can adequately handle about 40 students.

The excellence of the Summer Science programs is attributed to the people who teach and direct the student research, Stevens said. Project directors are each experienced in their field of research and hold ranks ranging from graduate student to assistant professor at quality universities. Top undergraduate students assist the project directors, and the non-curricular program is directed by high school teachers and coaches.

The total teaching staff for 40 students numbers 14, plus a registered nurse kitchen and maintenance staff.

Summer Science Camp is operated by Summer Science, Inc., a non-profit organization whose Board of Trustees includes noted scientists and educators. Its objectives are to provide activities which encourage high school science participation.

Dr. Van Riper Dies At Age 94

CHAMPION (AP)—A pioneer Marquette County physician, who estimated he delivered thousands of babies during his career, died Monday in the Upper Peninsula community of Champion. Dr. Paul Van Riper was 94.

The graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School began practicing at Champion in 1901. He was a native of Des Moines, Iowa, but grew up in Niles where his parents moved when he was an infant.

A few years ago he told the Marquette Mining Journal that he considered his greatest accomplishment a donation of land along Lake Michigan for use as a park. It was first known as Champion Beach and was later named, in his honor, Van Riper State Park.

Dr. Van Riper served for 35 years on the Marquette County Board of Supervisors and was secretary of the Champion Board of Education for 35 years. He was active in other civic enterprises.

Funeral services will be Thursday afternoon at the Champion Methodist Church. Burial will be at Silver Brook Cemetery at Niles. The body is at the Harris Funeral Home in Ishpeming.

Youth Responds

They came by the dozens, the little people of Escanaba and Delta County, carrying tin cans and cups and paper bags of money out of the frosty air into the warmth of the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center where the Community Ice Arena Corp. telethon was going on.

"And how much did you collect?" the announcer would ask.

"$5.43," came the proud reply.

"Dump it right there in the Arena Bucket."

The parade of children continued almost unbroken throughout the entire 25½ hours of the telethon, except for the late evening hours of Saturday and early morning hours Sunday. They came by twos, threes, fours and in larger groups. All had something to contribute.

This, even more than the $15,844 in pledges received was the most impressive thing about the telethon — the children, most of them grade schoolers, who rapped on doors and pounded the streets collecting pennies, nickels and dimes to buy a few more nails for the proposed building.

There was the small boy Sunday morning who came in with about $4.

"Did you collect that this morning?" he was asked.

"No," he answered. "I saved it."

During the two days there were pledges that were telephoned of 25 cents, 50 cents, $1 or $5. And although some of them were made by parents on behalf of their children, many more came directly from the kids.

How many piggy banks were tapped? How many allowances spent? How many pop bottles were cashed?

It's hard to build a $250,000 ice arena with nickels and dimes, but don't tell the young people of the community. They won't believe it.

The faith of the young is enormous.

It's up to the adult leadership to justify it.

Dust Again

The people of north Escanaba who live along Sheridan Rd. near the Chicago & North Western Railway Co. ore terminal were hopping mad Saturday and, if anything, that was an under reaction.

Dust from the iron ore stockpiling operation was so heavy that it literally coated everything in the immediate area — cars, snow, houses — with a grimy, black powder.

There isn't a family anywhere who should be subjected to that sort of atrocity.

The C&NW, of course, has been cited before the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission because of the dust and diesel fume problem in the ore terminal area and has been ordered to develop plans for controlling the problem. But the people who live in the area should be given more consideration while those plans are being developed. If it's ore from the Groveland Mine that is causing all the trouble, then the railroad should be prohibited from moving it.

To ask that the residents of the area live under the type of conditions imposed by the railroad Saturday from now until a control system is installed may protect the profits of the C&NW and mining company but it doesn't in the least part recognize the rights of the individual.

Potential Ally

Somewhere along the line America has failed to communicate with Prince Sihanouk, the national leader of Cambodia. Here is an enemy who ought to be an ally.

Americans know Sihanouk best for his strident anti-Americanism, his country's use by North Vietnamese forces as a staging area for aggression against South Vietnam, and his capture last year of U. S. seamen who may or may not have strayed into Cambodian waters.

But it would be a mistake to conclude that Prince Sihanouk, however antagonistic he has been to the United States, is in a way partial to the Communist cause in Southeast Asia. He is, in fact, very much of an anti-Communist who is struggling desperately against the Red web of intrigue and subversion that is gradually destroying his country's independence.

Here is an Asian leader who is clearly a potential ally of the United States. He understands the nature of the Communist threat to his country, and he understands the devious means through which it seeks to conquer.

Yet, ironically, he avoids co-operation with the United States and feels he must fight alone.

Perhaps he's as fed up with Washington's policy in Vietnam as are many people in the United States.

Peninsula Potpourri

White Pine Copper Co. announced that the number of its employees has climbed to 2,777, the highest since the company began mining copper in the village of White Pine in 1953. The total is an increase of 43 over a figure issued soon after Jan. 1. This makes White Pine the second largest employer in the Upper Peninsula, Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., iron mine operator on the Marquette Range, is first with more than 3,100.

State Sen. Joseph S. Mack (D-Ironwood) announced that the Michigan Highway Commission has agreed to make several changes in traffic controls at intersections in Dickinson County. The changes are the result of discussions with the Dickinson County Board and Dickinson Chamber of Commerce. The intersection of M-95 and U. S. 2 north of Iron Mountain and the intersection of U. S. 2 and U. S. 141 east of that city will be affected.

The city manager of Sault Ste. Marie was authorized by the city commission to readvertise for sale a four-acre plot of municipal property on the old Camp Lucas site. Decision to readvertise the parcel was made when the Four Seasons Casino Center of Marquette defaulted on terms of purchase agreement entered into last June.

School Bus Situation Is Confusing To South

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The 1964 Civil Rights Act, which is clear about requiring desegregation of the public schools, also employs some seemingly clear language when it comes to the subject of busing.

"Nothing," so the Act says, "herein shall empower any official or court of the United States to issue any order seeking to achieve a racial balance in any school by requiring the transportation of pupils or students from one school district to another in order to achieve racial balance."

How does it happen, then, that busing has become such an issue between the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in Washington that the governors of the states of Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana?

The Courts have obviously cracked down on southern communities which have been reluctant to accept the busing of pupils in order to meet the mid-year integration deadlines. This would seem to prove that the judges themselves have not pondered the Congressional injunction against compelling desegregation by violating the idea of the neighborhood school.

In Florida's Volusia County, Judge Charles Scott's ruling in favor of a plan that includes busing has sent Gov. Claude Kirk flying to Washington to protest. But the Supreme Court, in a display of stubbornness that has most of the southern governors mystified, declined to listen to Kirk, or to the parallel pleas of Governor J. Lee Bell Williams of Mississippi and Albert Brewer of Alabama.

Seeking some explanation of an ambivalent state of affairs, I must have sent the profit rate of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. soaring with calls put through to southern sources. In practically every case all I got for my pains was a profession of cynicism about the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Court system.

A statement put out by Florida State Sen. L. A. Bafalis accuses the U. S. Supreme Court and HEW of the "willful disregard" of the law of the land.

"HEW," says Sen. Bafalis, "is dedicated to the proposition that arbitrary and bureaucratic determination of racial quotas in public education is desirable, regardless of facts and feelings to the contrary." Bafalis's bafflement, and Gov. Kirk's anger, are entirely understandable.

But one person who would obviously not care to be quoted, because of his proximity to southern protesters against HEW, came up with an explanation for the state of affairs affecting the school situation in Florida and elsewhere in the Deep South. Giving Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Bob Finch the benefit of the doubt, this person said that HEW was not necessarily insisting on busing pupil in defiance of the wording of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"It could be argued," so I was told, "that what HEW insists upon is that southern school districts must come up with 'unitary' plans for integration in order to qualify for funds. If a 'unitary' plan happens to include busing, that is incidental. HEW isn't passing on the constitutionality of the busing; it is merely signaling that the 'unitary' requirement has been met."

As for the courts themselves, this southern observer said there might be a presumption on the part of the judges that the constitutional issue involved in busing has not been settled by the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It could be a case where statutory law, as passed by Congress, comes into conflict

A Youth for Christ rally, the first of its nature in Escanaba, will be held at the William Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior High School. The rally is sponsored by the Council of the Upper Michigan Youth for Christ, an organization for the purpose of promoting the Youth for Christ movement in the Upper Peninsula.

Jack Warner, after 14 months with the infantry in Africa and Sicily, has now gone back to a classroom and books as a student at the Escanaba Senior High School. Warner, now 21, attends the high school in the afternoon and returns there at night to his job as night janitor.

Mirko Skradski opened a grocery store at his building at 1413 Hartnett Ave. For the past two years Skradski has conducted a soft drink parlor at that location but closed that business a month ago and remodeled his store for the new business. GI Sheriff?

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A 20-year veteran of the Marine Corps has decided to run for sheriff of Gaston County while serving in Vietnam.

Sgt. C.W. Waldrep, who leaves for a second tour in Vietnam Monday, has been a recruiting sergeant in Gastonia for two years.

While he's in Vietnam, campaign work will be done by his wife and four children and the Republican party.

In case he wins, Waldrep will retire from the Marines in November.

30 Suspended

FERNDALE (AP) — Officials at Ferndale High School have suspended more than 30 students who refused to return to their classrooms after their efforts to stage a black studies teach-in fizzled. The students gathered in the school auditorium Friday to hear lectures from both student and faculty members, but no teachers showed. Among those suspended were the son and daughter of Dr. Ward Peterson Jr., president of the Ferndale School Board, and the daughter of Max Covert, a trustee.

with the U. S. Constitution as interpreted by Chief Justice Earl Warren's Court in its 1954 "Brown Versus Board of Education of Topeka."

It could be that the Supreme Court may some day rule that if busing is necessary to achieve desegregated schools in certain areas, then Congress has no call to prohibit its appearance in a "unitary" plan.

To clear up the confusion that is driving Southern governors wild, State Sen. Bafalis is offering a resolution for consideration by his own State of Florida that would call for an amendment to the U. S. Constitution affirming that "the right of citizens to attend the public schools of their choice shall not be abridged or denied by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, religion or national origin. Supporting organizations in Ohio, Oklahoma, Missouri, Michigan, California, Colorado, and Tennessee are now being formed to push the "Bafalis Amendment."

Since the proposed Bafalis Amendment does not specify that one should live in a neighborhood to "choose" its school, it could be the source of new confusion.

But the motive behind the resolution is clear: Something should be done to bring statutory law and the Constitution into ascertainable harmony.

Opening lead—three of clubs. It is surely not advantageous to be penny-wise and pound-foolish, and this ancient proverb can be applied just as effectively at the bridge table as in everyday life.

For example, consider this case where excessive thrift by West resulted in South's making a game that should have gone down.

West led a club and East won with the ace and returned the queen, which held. East then led a low spade.

Declarer won and forced out the ace of hearts. West could now do no better than cash his king of clubs, and the outcome was that South made three no-trump.

Had West been more extravagant at trick two, he would have defeated the contract. He should have overtaken East's queen of clubs and continued with the ten.

True, this would have handed South a club trick he could not otherwise make, but that would have been a very cheap price to pay for stopping the contract. West would later have scored two tricks in restitution for the one he gave away, and this one-trick gain would have meant all the difference between making and breaking the contract.

There are several factors for West to consider before making his play at trick two. First, the decision to overtake the queen should be guided more by the aim of defeating the contract than by whether the play will cost a club trick.

Second, West should try to estimate the chances of East's having another club to lead if the queen is ducked. Actually, the odds strongly favor East's having no more clubs, considering South's two no-trump bid.

Finally—and this is the deciding factor—West should ask himself how likely it is that overtaking the queen will cost the contract. On the bidding, declarer can hardly run more than three spades and four diamonds, so presenting him with a club trick cannot prove fatal.

Dope Peddler Holds Key To Boy's 'Ills'

Dear Ann Landers: This morning a friend of mine (I'll call her Mrs. A.) was telephoned by the school. Mrs. A's 15-year-old son has not been to classes in two weeks. She is divorced and the sole supporter of the boy.

Mrs. A. left work and found her son in a hangout near the school—higher than a kite, on pills. The pills are called up and downs. They cost 25c each. Three other boys were with him. They were in the same condition. Mrs. A. took her son to the nearest police station. They told her, "Sorry, there's nothing we can do. Take him home." She asked, "Why?" The answer was, "Because we have to find the pills ON the boy—not IN him."

At this moment, the 15-year-old is sleeping it off and his mother is near collapse. The pill-pusher is still peddling his wares around the school, no doubt. It will go on and on unless somebody stops it. What can be done? — Mad In Chicago

Dear Mad: A boy who ditched school for two weeks and zonks himself on dillies needs to be taken to a doctor at once. This is a very sick kid.

The school principal should be notified. That joint near the school needs to be looked into. Also, more heat should be applied to the police in the area around the school. The rat who is selling the pills must be nailed in action. Your friend should enlist the help of her clergyman, her lawyer, her doctor, the school principal and the parents of the youths who were with her son. She should get together with other concerned people and they can clean up this mess.

Dear Ann Landers: This is to let you know your advice doesn't always fit. I refer to your words of praise for the wife whose husband was cheating, then suddenly came back home and has been a model husband ever since. Well, bully for her, but I was not so lucky.

It so happens "The sample wasn't ample" for MY husband. He kept going back for more samples and now he has decided he wants to buy the product.

The girl is a tramp. She broke up two homes before mine. Eventually, you can bet my husband will come crawling back. The question is—should I take him? Please don't don't give me any more canned phrases like "The sample was ample." What I need is some solid advice. — Santa Barbara

Dear Santa B.: O.K., so the sample WASN'T ample, I'm sorry. How can I give "solid advice" when I don't have any facts? A great deal depends on how long your husband stays away and how you feel about his absence. Are there children involved? How old are you? How old is your husband? How old is the sample? Write to me when he comes crawling back and I'll do my best to help you.

Dear Ann Landers: There's this woman in the office—on the lying side of 50, wearing this ridiculous micro-mini skirt. She is driving us nuts. She sits there, in a most unladylike position, exhibiting her fat knees and varicose veins and on a clear day you can see Vallejo. Every ten minutes, she asks, "Is my girdle showing?" — which, of course, it is. We are too embarrassed to tell her. Will you do it for us? — The Blusher

Dear Blush: The guilty ones never think you are talking to them. So—my advice is speak up—in no uncertain terms.

Ann Landers' best selling book, "Truth Is Stranger," a collection of her best columns over the past 14 years is available in paperback by Bantam for 95c—wherever paperbacks are sold.

Drilling Ban

DETROIT (AP)—A two-year ban on oil and gas drillings in Lake Erie has been asked by a study group made up of 20 legislative representatives from the states bordering on the lake.

The Lake Erie Commission, meeting in Detroit Friday, adopted a resolution calling on their individual state legislatures to enact appropriate legislation to prevent such drilling until July 1, 1972.

MUDDY RIVER

It was certainly pleasing to see such a dramatic change in the appearance of the Escanaba River this past fall after Mead Corporation's Escanaba mill put its new water treatment facility into operation.

Mead was doing what it said it had planned to do. All of the publicity about how well their new system would work was apparently correct. Even at the river's lowest level the facility was to be effective.

What happened? Recently I have observed that the river below the mill has returned to its polluted condition of past years. It is again a "beautiful" cream color. Far from clear as was beginning to occur immediately after the opening of the treatment facility.

Is there a break-down in equipment? What is the problem? Can we look forward to the treatment of our air in a similar manner? First polluting it then curing the situation only to have it return to a polluted state.

For all of the citizens of Delta County, present and future, let us hope not! By supporting the Save Our Air Committee and demanding the passage of a strict and forward-looking air pollution ordinance each of us can make sure it does not.

AIR SERVICE COST

Hoory! We have jets. We now can save 10 minutes in a flight from Escanaba to Green Bay. Who pays for this first class service for the affluent few of the tax deductible fares? The taxpayer picks up the tab without ever getting his feet off the ground.

The cost of airport operations were quoted as conservative at $43,000. Double that figure with the additional cost of a new north-south runway and the cost will be approximately on the conservative side.

Indiana Report by L. Hirschinger in the Great Lakes Flyer, Feb., 1970, makes the following comments:

Airlines Strange Losers: Experts advise against investing in airlines as carriers again lost substantially more in 1969. Traffic climbed, top official's salaries remained in excess of $100,000, while government subsidy continued for the most part. (Subsidy is a bad word around airlines. You are supposed to call it Public Service Revenue.) The Civil Aeronautics Board reports that $40,917,000 in subsidy payments is expected this year. That's coming out of your pocket without consideration for the champagne, sirloin and in flight movies.

The above does not include the taxpayer's cost of sophisticated feeder airports for the sole purpose of channelizing passengers over affiliated airlines.

Lets quote F. M. Higgins, former president of North Central Airlines as reported in the Milwaukee Journal, Oct. 12, 1965: "A minimum of 3,000 boarding passengers a month are required to justify jet airline service."

At present we have about 1,200 and this will drop off as the economy is cooled to a slight depression.

George Harvey, city manager states on area schools, Escanaba Press, Jan. 15, 1970, "I have always advocated a pay for what you receive method of conducting city affairs."

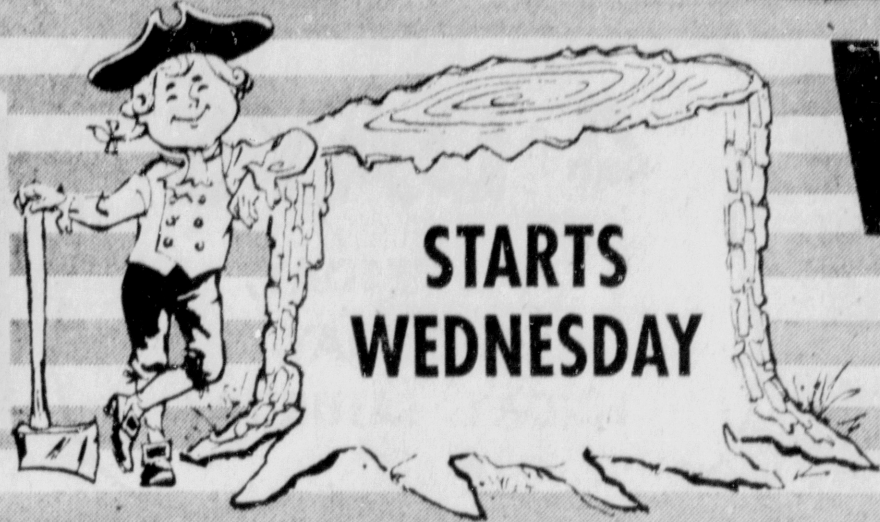

I fully agree. Let the user pay or drop the 10 minute savings of jets and expand Trans Michigan Airways service to our moderate needs and finances.

Nader Takes Swipe At Auto, Gas Rivals

NEW YORK (AP) — Their No. 1 critic, Ralph Nader, says auto companies will use air pollution control to impose what he holds would be unjustifiable increases in car prices.

He adds that they'll do so with the blessing of the Nixon Administration.

Speaking on a CBS television program, "Face the Nation," Nader said: "The administration has given the green light to the auto industry in closed-door negotiations in the last three weeks."

He charged oil company claims that unleaded gasoline they are developing to reduce automobile air pollution will cost more are unsubstantiated, adding: "There is great incentive for both the oil and the auto industries to use air pollution as an excuse to raise prices."

Nader said an announcement by General Motors Corp. last week that all its 1971 cars will run on unleaded gas is long overdue. "The attempt to get rid of leaded gas is a step forward but it's something that should have been done many years ago," Nader charged.

Even the auto industry's steps to develop minimum polluting engines is misdirected, Nader insisted. Researchers "are refusing to recognize the importance of replacing the internal combustion engine with a totally nonpolluting new type of propulsion system. This is the way to go."

Nader said, "The more they try to fiddle with the internal combustion engine and lower the pollution characteristics, the more they increase maintenance costs to consumers."

Benton Harbor Reading Tests Hit By Judge

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent has criticized the Benton Harbor School District for its method of assigning students to classes at Central Junior High School.

Kent said reading tests given pupils are not sufficiently reliable to be the prime factor in the grouping of classes.

The comment was made in connection with a court hearing on a suit filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), charging that the Benton Harbor School District practices segregation and discrimination in school assignments.

The NAACP contends that students in the predominantly Negro Central Junior High are locked into low learning tracks from which they cannot escape.

In another aspect of the case, defense witnesses denied an NAACP charge that the transfer of eight classrooms of students from a Negro school — Black Bard School—was a deliberate perpetuation of segregation.

Witnesses testified that the classes had to be transferred intact or special state funds would be lost. The district gets about $200,000 in extra aid for the school, and the money must be spent on Bard students.

The classes were transferred because eight old rooms on the Bard site were to be demolished, witnesses said.

Defense attorney Robert Small said his presentation should be completed Tuesday.

Judge Kent said the trial should wind up Tuesday because other cases are crowding the U.S. District Court docket.

New Antiwar Plans Forged

CLEVELAND (AP) — The uneasy alliance that forged massive peace marches last November in Washington and San Francisco is joining again for a new wave of antiwar actions April 15.

The outlines for the concerted action emerged Sunday as the Student Mobilization Committee capped a raucous weekend conference by voting to make April 15 the highlight of its spring offensive.

The same day—the deadline for the filing of federal income tax returns—had already been chosen as an action day by both the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam and the Vietnam Moratorium Committee.

All three groups worked together in building the Nov. 15 demonstrations, which attracted hundreds of thousands of marchers in a demand for immediate withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The April 15th action, instead of being directed at one or two major cities, will be nationwide with the liberal-led Moratorium concentrating on taxpayer rallies "to focus on the issue of taxation and the disproportionate expenditures of the government on the war and the military in general."

The New Mobie is also seeking to link the war with inflation and taxes in a call for massive demonstrations on the 15th.

Certified Park

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken has awarded the first state certified industrial park certificate to the Farmington freeway industrial park. The top rating goes to parks with the highest standards of facilities needed by industry. The governor said he believes Michigan is the first state in the nation to formally classify industrial parks.

OK Support

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today pledged support for Britain's draft treaty to outlaw germ warfare.

Arriving for a new session of the 25-nation disarmament conference, chief U.S. negotiator Gerard C. Smith told newsmen that America does not have a proposal or its own on the issue of bacteriological weapons.

Homemade Toys Encourage Creativity

EAST LANSING — Children's toys don't have to be elaborate, according to Mrs. Gail Imig, family life specialist at Michigan State University.

"Toys should satisfy the child's basic developmental needs," Mrs. Imig said, "and many homemade toys do this better than ones you can buy."

For instance, children should have something to swing on. This develops their arm and leg muscles and helps coordination, Mrs. Imig said. She suggested such things as the familiar rubber tire hung from the tree, or a gunny sack partially stuffed with sawdust, sand and straw.

"For older children, a heavy rope with big knots, serves this need very well."

A great outlet for extra energy or hostile feelings is the punching bag. An old pillow serves the purpose as does a burlap bag filled with sawdust.

"But remember to bring the sawdust bag into the house when it rains," Mrs. Imig warned. "Sawdust gets very hard when wet."

A giant sawhorse gives youngsters a great "jungle gym," and is usually no problem for Dad to make, Mrs. Imig suggested. A sawhorse six to eight feet high, with step-like slats every foot or so, lets the child climb to his heart's content.

"Children love to use their imagination," Mrs. Imig said, "so encourage them every chance you get." An old blanket or quilt over a card table makes a great tent, and a steering wheel from an old car quickly transforms a young boy into a delivery man or truck driver.

"Before you discard something that seems totally worthless to you, give it to your children to play with for awhile," Mrs. Imig said. "Their imaginations can find a use for everything, and such opportunities teach the creativity that will prove useful to them in their adult lives."

Bread 'Dough'

PORT HURON (AP) —Close to 400 high school students from Port Huron and Marysville raised close to $1,700 Sunday with the door-to-door sale of 4,000 loaves of bread for the March of Dimes.

The funds will be raised in the total St. Clair County contribution for the March of Dimes. With bread contributed at cost by local merchants, a baking distributor, the door-to-door drive is an annual student affair.

WENDY GREEN, 16-year-old high school student from Miami, apparently failed in her bid to enter the all-male world of congressional pages. House patronage committee member B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., says no change currently is anticipated in the policy of hiring only young men. Wendy had written to President Nixon and every member of the House of Representatives in the hope of landing a page's position. (AP Wirephoto)

Human Organ Pool Aim Of Indiana Group

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana insurance agents are carrying on a statewide campaign to set up a pool of potential donors of hearts and other human organs for transplant.

The agents pass out cards with which a signer can commit any or all of his organs for removal after his death.

Under a Uniform Anatomical Gifts Act which has been adopted by Indiana and 38 other states, the authorization is binding upon the donor's survivors.

Half the signed card is carried by the prospective donor. A duplicate half goes into a central register.

During the first six weeks of the program about 1,500 cards have been signed.

"It has gone over tremendously," said Robert W. Osler, managing director of the Indiana State Association of Life Underwriters. "Practically nobody refuses a card."

A physician coming upon the transplant donor card in the possession of a dying person is instructed to call an Indianapolis telephone number, manned 24 hours a day. Calls are relayed to the transplantation committee of the Indiana University Medical Center and the Veterans Administration.

The National Association of Life Underwriters, with 979 local associations in the United States and Puerto Rico, has prepared a kit, based on the Indiana plan, for national distribution.

A national program could result in a computerized pool of potential donors, making organs available for transplant throughout the nation almost instantly, said Osler.

EMPLOYEES AT THE Upper Peninsula State Fairgrounds in Escanaba were busy shoveling roofs of fair buildings after heavy snow collapsed the roof of the sheep shed. Many cottage owners have been forced into similar roof shoveling activities this winter to protect their property from serious damage. (Daily Press Photo)

Committee On Hunger 'Alive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted overwhelmingly to extend the life of its special committee on hunger, preparing for at least another year a major political forum for its chairman—Democrat George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

The one-year extension was approved 47 to 12 Monday as part of a resolution authorizing the committee to spend $246,000 while broadening its investigation of malnutrition into the related aspects of medical care and welfare.

McGovern was in Hawaii making speeches and could not be reached for comment on the vote.

A committee aide said, however, hearings will be held March 2-4 on income problems of the poor.

The quick scheduling was a clear indication no time would be wasted getting the committee back before the public, where at least once in the past year it was credited with prompting a major reversal in administration policy.

That was last spring when a decision by McGovern to summon Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch and Agriculture Secretary Clifford Harbo to testify apparently caused President Nixon to reverse an earlier decision against making hunger a major issue.

Pallister, manager, World Trade Department, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, Lansing.

Other members of the Michigan delegation include Dr. John X. Jamrich, president, Northern Michigan University, Marquette. Primary purpose of the Mission is to witness demonstrations of icebreakers and ice-breaking equipment built by Wärtsilä Corp., which may have some value in extension of the shipping season on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Transportation System, and briefing sessions on the technical and economic problems of winter-time shipping.

City Tax Out
GRAYLING (AP)—Voters in Grayling rejected a city income tax proposal Monday, but it was much closer than officials expected.

The proposal called for a 1 per cent tax on residents and a 1/2 per cent tax on non-residents. When the tax was proposed last November a referendum was demanded.

The margin in the referendum was 212 against and 178 for the tax.

Mishap Fatal
PONTIAC (AP)—A collision between two cars and an empty school bus resulted in the death Monday of one of the motorists, Robert L. Anderson, 40, of near-Ortonville.

Police said Anderson's car was hit from behind and pushed into the oncoming bus.

Topical Fluoride Program Planned

Topical applications of fluoride will be offered to Soo Hill and Wells area children this summer, according to Mrs. Orval Morrison, chairman of the Soo Hill topical fluoride program committee.

The program, which is supervised by the Michigan Department of Public Health, will be made available to preschoolers, second, fifth and eighth graders and to special cases referred by dentists. Tentative starting date is June 8.

The procedure consists of four visits to the fluoride clinic at approximately two day intervals. The child's teeth are cleaned on the first visit and a fluoride solution is applied directly to the surface of the teeth. The fluoride application is then repeated during the three succeeding visits. This technique has been shown to reduce tooth decay by about 40 per cent compared with the 60 to 65 per cent reduction obtained with fluoridated water, she said.

In addition to providing protection against cavities, the program offers a valuable dental experience for children with no discomfort, officials said. Dental health education by the clinic personnel, including instruction in the proper method of brushing teeth, also is an important part of the program.

Parents of eligible children will be notified at a later date and be given an opportunity to enroll their children in the program. A small fee is charged to cover the cost of operating the clinic.

Downtown Rest Facility Solicitation Progresses

Walter Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce, reported to the Chamber's Board of Directors Monday that the City of Escanaba should be in a position to start construction on the rest area facility for the downtown area by March 1.

Lewke said solicitation of commitments to finance the remodeling of the former service station into a rest facility is being well received by businessmen and that all commitments should be in by Feb. 28.

Remodeling of the service station into a rest area is being financed jointly by businessmen and the city.

New members accepted at the meeting are Bowl-A-Rama, assigned to Harold Krusic; Delta Animal Hospital, assigned to Dr. Donald Alimenti; Martin Krokstad, Jr., Home Builders; Northland Appliance of Escanaba, assigned to Dennis C. Keough; Ness Glass and Paint, assigned to Donald Ness; and Tuc-Me-In Motel, assigned to Robert I. Squia. Warren Johnston and Mel Oslund are co-chairmen of the Membership Committee.

Folders Distributed

Lewke reported that quantities of the Chamber's Escanaba tourist folder and the Delta County tourist folder authorized by the Delta County Board of Supervisors have been shipped to the Michigan State Highway Department for distribution at state highway information lodges and at the Midwest travel shows, including Detroit, Chicago and Indianapolis. Folders will be shipped to the Milwaukee and Minneapolis travel shows within the next several weeks.

President Thomas Straebel told Board members that he had been advised by the U. S. Department of Commerce that at this time it is very unlikely that the department will re-establish the Escanaba weather station.

Straebel said that prompted by requests of local boat owners, the Chamber has contacted the U. S. Coast Guard commander at Cleveland, Ohio, relative to the replacement of the two buoys on Peninsula Point and 11-foot shoal. As yet no reply has been received from the Cleveland office. A complaint has also been registered with the Coast Guard relative to the warning device on Sand Point light which emits a constant noise even in clear weather.

Board members were advised that the Chamber is in the process of updating the industrial brochure, and contributors are urged to get their copy in to the Chamber office by March 1.

Tourism Discussed

Fred Saykally, chairman of the Tourism Committee, which met February 9, discussed various projects which would promote tourism in the Escanaba and Delta County area, such as log birling, snowmobiling, water skiing, art school, archery, lumberjack events and amateur stock theatre which could be held in the band shell. The committee will meet again on March 10 to further explore these possibilities.

The Transportation Committee, under the direction of Chairman Jack Winters, recommended to the Board that the City be commended for their efforts in fighting the snow problem at the municipal airport this winter. He said the City had done a remarkable job and all personnel involved should be commended for their efforts. Winters also commented that the traffic changes made so far in the downtown area have made a definite improvement for a more even and steady flow of traffic.

Lewke reported that officers from K. I. Sawyer AFB will be hosted by sponsors of the K. I. Sawyer Hospitality Day program Saturday, February 21.

Legislator Asks Griffith To Vote Against Carswell

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., and spokesmen for several Detroit area organizations urged Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., to change his mind, and oppose the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell for the Supreme Court.

Conyers called Carswell a "racist" and said that Griffin could turn the tide against Carswell as he did against Judge Clement Haynsworth, the President's earlier nominee.

THE TOWER CRANE which "climbed" up the southwest side of the 18-story senior citizens apartment building in Escanaba as construction workers made their way to the top of the structure is coming down. The crane literally climbs up and down its own tower, much like a television tower workman would do if he put up on section, then climbed on it to install a second, then used the second to install the third, etc. The 176-unit building is expected to be completed this summer. Exterior brick work on the building was completed earlier this month. (Daily Press Photo)

Upgrading Family Life Young Executive's Aim

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Crime, pollution, congestion, poor transportation, long hours of commuting, poor schools. These generally head the list of reasons why many rising young executives avoid transfers to some big cities.

Add now to the list a related factor that is commonly overlooked but which is basic to the decision: The upgrading of family life and the relative diminishing of the company's power over a man's private affairs.

This is the contention of Dr. Eugene Jennings of Michigan State University, a psychologist, executive counselor and management consultant. He calls today's sharpest young executives co-workers. Their predecessors were one-worlders.

Two Environments
He explains in this manner: Today's competent young people are trying to rationalize living in two distinct environments: family life and business life. The old Philadelphia mainliner managed it; he never talked business at the dinner table.

Most executives, however, have permitted the company to dominate their lives. The company told them what clubs to join. It even passed judgment on the wife. It demanded that the executive devote his private hours to many community activities "because it's good business."

Tendency Noted
The tendency is for many of today's so-called early arrivals, or high ranking executives who are still in their 30s, to rebel against this pattern and attempt to keep one life from impinging on the other.

"What good does it do," they are inclined to ask, "to belong to 21 worthy causes that occupy all your evenings and then discover that your son is on dope?"

The old, one-world executive believed in clubbiness. He joined exclusive clubs to be with his kind. The new executive replaces this with intimacy; he has a few personal friends rather than many acquaintances from the business world.

Picks One Worthy Cause
The new executive, rather than spreading his time and energies among 21 worthy causes, chooses one that is suited to his intrinsic talents and then devotes lots of time to it.

There are many distinctions. The old executive liked publicity for the good of his business. The new executive has family secrets; he desires privacy to the extent that co-workers might not know where he spends his summers.

Houghton Quint Takes Top Spot In Cage Ratings

By The Associated Press

No wonder Houghton has one of the best high school basketball teams in the state — it has had nine years of seasoning.

"Most of the guys, on our team have been playing together since the third grade," said Coach Fritz Wilson Monday. "We have a complete program from grade school on up and I think it has had a tremendous influence on this year's team."

It would be hard to dispute that, for the Gremlins are unbeaten in 14 games this season and hold down the No. 1 spot in the latest weekly Associated Press Class C poll of sports-writers and sportscasters.

Houghton and Saginaw St. Stephen have both been No. 1. Last week they were tied for first but this week Houghton piled 45 points to 44 for St. Stephen, which beat Houghton in the semifinals of the state tournament last year.

"We'd sure like to meet St. Stephen again," Wilson said.

Wilson, who is from Marquette, came to Houghton eight seasons ago and in his first year the Gremlins lost to New Buffalo in the state finals.

"A twinge of fate here and a little luck there can determine what happens in a tournament," he said.

In the last 20 years Houghton basketball teams have won 15 district titles.

"I don't think that can be surpassed in many areas of the state," Wilson said.

The Gremlins have a potent one-two punch in Gary Lange and Brian Salo. Lange is only 5-foot-11, but the senior guard is the top scorer in the Upper Peninsula with a 32-point average.

Salo is a 6-6 senior forward who has a 27-point average. In a game against Painesdale Lange scored 60 points and Salo 49—100 points for two players.

Wilson said Lange can't miss getting All-State first team recognition, and that college teams such as Davidson and Syracuse may try to recruit him.

"Between those two kids we go wild," Wilson said.

Other starters are 6-3 junior forward Ron Saarela, 5-9 senior guard Rod Lightfoot, and 6-1 junior forward Neil Guard. Dan Guard, Neil's brother, is a 5-10 guard who plays often, along with 5-11 forward Dan Salo, a cousin of Brian.

Wilson likes the No. 1 rating, but said: "I'd rather be No. 1 on the day of the tournament finals."

Bowlers Begin Sweeper Event

Action in the Seventh Annual Bowl-A-Rama Sweeper got underway this weekend and ten teams bettered the 4000 pin mark and 19 individuals topped 600 in the singles optional.

Leading the way was Gary's Citgo Service of Iron River with a score of 4308, bettering the 4223 score turned in by the "5th Street Bombers" of Escanaba last Saturday night. These two teams were followed by Clifton Manor of Marquette with 4208 and Northwood's Supper Club of Marquette, which hit 4144.

Herman Heinlein of Marquette, with games of 245, 208 and 235 for a 688 series, holds the lead in the singles optional, while Dave Friets of Escanaba is in second place with a 253 game in a 672 series and Clarence Duquette of Marquette is third with a 248 game in a 668 series.

Friets and Duquette picked up individual prizes for their high games on Saturday and Sunday respectively, while Quality Cleaners of Iron Mountain, with a 1000 game Saturday night, and Gary's Citgo, with a 1046 Sunday, picked up team prizes.

The tournament, which drew a field of 127 teams for the Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin, still has three weeks to run.

Western Kentucky Tops Weird Conference Race

By The Associated Press

You can't blame the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers if they don't care much for this new math. After all, how would you feel if you were leading the Ohio Valley Conference by four games with only three games left and hadn't clinched the title?

That strange situation came about Monday night when the 16th-ranked Hilltoppers whipped Tennessee Tech 100-64 for an 11-0 OVC mark while runner-up Murray State, 7-4, lost to Morehead 97-93.

However, Murray's protest over Saturday's 79-78 loss to Eastern Kentucky was upheld by OVC Commissioner Art Guepe after the scoreboard clock somehow skipped the last 10 seconds.

But those missing seconds will be played only if needed to determine the outcome of the race. The only way that can happen is for Murray to win its remaining three OVC games while Western Kentucky loses its three. Then Murray would have a chance to wipe out Saturday's loss and throw the race into a playoff.

Elsewhere Monday night, second-ranked Kentucky moved a step closer toward a 25th Southeastern Conference title with a 116-86 route of Georgia; 14th-rated Notre Dame crushed Tulane 115-80 as Austin Carr poured in 53 points and set a one-season school record, and Kansas State, ranked 18th, opened up a three-game lead in the Big Eight by edging Missouri 63-60.

Kentucky's 6-foot-8 Dan Issel won his battle with Georgia's 6-11 Bob Lienhard, outscoring him

40-18 and rebounding him 15-9. The victory gave the Wildcats a 20-1 record, 12-1 in SEC play. It was the 21st time a Kentucky team coached by Adolph Rupp reached the 20-win plateau and the 116 points cracked the Wildcats' home court record by one.

Notre Dame's Carr, the nation's second leading scorer, boosted his season total to 781, erasing Tom Hawkins' mark of 729. Carr hit on 22 of 35 shots, breaking his own school record of 20 field goals.

The national scoring leader, Prolific Pete Maravich, added 46 more although he sank only 18 of 46 shots as Louisiana State got by Auburn 70-64 and stayed alive in the SEC pending Kentucky's Saturday visit.

Maravich's expected duel with Auburn's John Mengelt never came off, though. Mengelt, who scored 60 against Alabama on Saturday, had the flu and played with 102-degree temperature, managing 23 points.

Kansas State moved ahead of Missouri for good 57-56 on Eddie Smith's 20-foot jump shot with 1:40 remaining. Smith then hit a layup for a three-point bulge and the Wildcats wrapped it up with four free throws in the final 14 seconds.

FINGER OF DOOM — Joe Frazier, left, points at Jimmy Ellis' chest at the weigh-in Monday morning at New York's Madison Square Garden, where the two met to decide the heavyweight boxing championship. Frazier recorded a fifth round knockout over Ellis and ran unbeaten string to 25, including 22 by knockout. (AP Wirephoto)

Frazier Knocks Out Ellis To Win Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier is the undisputed king of the heavyweights and he gained his crown by force—sheer brute force. Now he's a champion with nobody to fight.

"Now I'm gonna retire," Frazier kidded Monday night after knocking out Jimmy Ellis. "I am going to sing rock and roll until that fellow who wanted to give me a belt wants to fight me."

Frazier referred to Cassius Clay, deposed as champion after refusing to enter military service. Clay had offered to give his Ring Magazine championship belt to the winner.

Frazier, tauntingly confident, clubbed Ellis senseless after four rounds of their scheduled 15-round title fight at Madison Square Garden.

Scored As KO

Ellis, down twice from sledgehammer blows in the fourth round, was unable to answer the bell for the fifth, and it went into the books as a five-round knockout.

"I've tried to be the best fighter in the world," said the unbeaten 26-year-old Frazier who looked every bit that in making Ellis his 22nd knockout victim in 25 victories.

Boston attorney John Cronin, who represents English boxing interests, said Frazier, who went into the Ellis fight as a six-state champion, and Manager Yancey Durham have been invited to go to London to watch the Henry Cooper-Jack Dodel fight March 24.

Promoters Harry Levene and Jarvis Astaire want Frazier to fight the winner.

Future Clouded

Ellis entered the bout as the World Boxing Association champion and came out with his ring future clouded, although he said he would continue fighting.

Ellis, a boxer with a good right hand, started out well, catching Frazier with some solid combinations to the head and winning the first round on the cards of all three officials.

But Frazier, a 4-1 favorite, showed nothing but disdain, once telling Ellis, "You can't hit, sissy; I took your best right hand. You ain't got nothing."

The tide began to turn in the second round, with the swarming Frazier, his arms pumping like pistons, applying pressure and not letting Ellis stay away.

In the third round, Frazier, at 205 four pounds heavier than Ellis who was the heaviest of his career, showed what was to come.

Punishing Blows

He hurt Ellis with a left hook to the jaw and pummeled him on the ropes before Ellis finally escaped. Frazier then staggered Ellis with another hard hook, and, after Ellis retaliated with a right, Frazier staggered Ellis with another hook.

In the fourth, Frazier hurt Ellis with a left hook to the head and a left to the body. Then the Philadelphia slugger dropped Ellis with a left and right to the head. The Louisville fighter staggered to his feet at the count of nine.

Moments later, Frazier applied the finisher—a smashing left hook to the head that sent Ellis crashing to the canvas on his back.

The bell rang at five, but referee Tony Perez, under New York rules, kept counting. Somehow Ellis got up at nine, but there was little doubt that he was finished.

No Response

When the bell rang for the fifth round Manager Angelo Dundee refused to let Ellis come out, saying later that the fighter simply did not respond.

If there was any doubt about the force of the knockdown punches, it was dispelled by Ellis at the post-fight news conference.

A sports writer asked, "When did you hear the count?"

"At five," replied Ellis.

"Both times?"

"I only went down once," Ellis shot back.

"But Jimmy, you were down twice," chorused writers.

"Gentlemen, now you know why I stopped the fight," said Dundee.

Gladstone Frosh Win Cage Tourney

GLADSTONE — The Gladstone High School freshmen basketball team captured first place honors in the Great Lakes Conference freshmen basketball tournament by whipping Newberry 82-28 in the finals Saturday at Munising.

Gladstone won the right to represent one district in the finals by defeating Negaunee 64-54 in its first game and Negaunee 64-49 in the division finals.

Newberry entered the finals after winning its district, which included Sault Ste. Marie, Munising and Manistique.

The Newberry JV's came out on top in the junior varsity tourney by scoring a 68-62 victory over Negaunee in the finals, also played Saturday at Munising. Gladstone was eliminated in its first game of district competition by Ishpeming.

Crusaders, Eskymos Battle In Showdown

By MIKE UTT

Once again it will be the high-powered offense of the Escanaba Eskymos against the miserly defense of the Holy Name Crusaders when the two teams battle tonight at the Holy Name gymnasium in a Great Northern Conference clash beginning at 8:15.

Both teams need a victory in the game, Escanaba hoping to remain in sole possession of first place in the conference standings and Holy Name looking for a chance to get back into the top spot after dropping to third place Friday night with a loss to West Iron County.

If Escanaba should win, it would have a 7-1 record in league play and Holy Name would drop to 6-3 and remain in third place behind Menominee, which has a 6-2 mark. If the Crusaders should come out on top, they would move into a three-way tie for first place with Escanaba and Menominee and set up their big game with the Maroons Friday night.

Holy Name has the better record going into the game, 10-3 compared to Escanaba's 8-5, but the Eskymos have come on strong lately and will carry a four-game winning streak into the contest.

In 13 games this season, Escanaba has scored 1,012 points for an average of 77.8 points per game and have given up a total of 948 points for an average of 72.9. Holy Name, on the other hand, is just the opposite, allowing just 700 points in 13 contests for an average of 53.8 points per game while scoring 871 points for a 67.0 average.

Both teams have players who are leading the Great Northern Conference in one statistical department or more. Tom Kangas of the Eskymos leads in scoring and field goal percentage and has worked his way into second place in the rebounding department behind the leader Joe Harvey.

Kangas has scored 179 points in seven conference games for an average of 25.5 and he has a total of 329 points in all games this season for a 25.3 point per game average. Harvey has picked off 129 rebounds in conference play and Kangas has 119.

Holy Name has a player who can also put the ball through the hoop in sophomore Bill Skradski, who has scored 228 points during the campaign for an average of 17.5 points per game. Skradski also ranks high in the conference scoring statistics with 121 points in seven games for an average of 17.2.

Coach Bob Thibault's Escanaba lineup will probably include Mike Cousineau and Bob Gauthier at guards, Bill Dubord and Gene Timmer at forwards and Kangas at center. All but Dubord are over the 10-point mark in per game average.

Coach Gordy LeDuc will counter with Bob McGinn and Skradski at the guards, Harvey at center and Dan Young and Steve Kleiman at forwards. Young, Kleiman and McGinn will be making their last home appearance in a Crusader uniform, as they are the only seniors on the Holy Name roster.

In an earlier meeting between the two schools this season, Holy Name led throughout the first three periods of play before Escanaba went into a half court zone press in the fourth quarter that turned the game into a 76-65 victory for the Eskymos.

Other games in the area tonight will have Engadine at Big Bay de Noc, Powers at Carney and Eben at Perkins, while games involving U. P. teams have Gwinn at Ishpeming, Kingsford at Iron Mountain, Hancock at Ontonagon, Pellston at DeTour, Ondessagon, Wis., at Ironwood Catholic and Watersmeet at Lake Linden.

The Engadine-Big Bay game is a non-conference affair but it will give the Black Bears a chance to play a district tourney foe, while trying to run their record to 14-1 for the season with three games left to play.

Powers will be trying to stay one jump ahead of Champion in the Skyline Conference race at Carney tonight. The Tigers have a 12-1 mark in league play and Champion is right on their heels with a 12-2 record. Carney is 7-7 in league play.

The Eben-Perkins contest matches two teams which both have five losses in Central League competition, but still trying for a second place finish in the league race. Big Bay, which has only lost once, has already clinched the conference crown.

Esky Wrestlers Dump Crusaders

Eight pins were recorded between the two schools during Monday night's wrestling match between the Holy Name Crusaders and Escanaba Eskymos at the Escanaba Area High School gym, which was won by the Eskymos 32-20, running their record in dual meet competition to 7-5 for the season.

Escanaba got four of the pins for 20 of their points and picked up the rest on four decisions. Eskymos winning by pins were Dale Ford, Neil Vandrese, Terry Scheenemen and Duane Scheuren, while Mike Blazek, Mike Thompson, Mike Makosky and Mark Blazek won on decisions.

All of Holy Name's points in the meet came on pins by Art

Beauvais, Allen Beauvais, Jim DeGrand and Gary Corbett.

The Crusaders grabbed a 10-3 lead after the first three matches, but the Eskymos came roaring to score 19 straight points before the two teams split the final four matches.

Two of the area's most outstanding wrestlers, Scheuren and DeGrand, remained with only one loss apiece for the season. Scheuren has a 19-1 record and DeGrand is now 15-1.

Last night's match ended the regular season competition for the Crusaders, while the Eskymos travel to Munising next Monday. Both teams will be entered in the U. P. finals at Marquette on Feb. 27-28.

The results:

101 — Art Beauvais (HN) pinned Tom Lofquist (E)

110 — Mike Blazek (E) dec. Ron Jaeger (HN) 5-0

Everybody Looking, But McLain Stays Hidden

DETROIT (AP) — Where is Denny McLain?

In Lakeland, Fla., where the Detroit Tigers open spring training Friday?

At his home in the Detroit suburb of Birmingham?

In New York to speak with baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn?

Newsmen have been unable to reach the star Tiger pitcher since Friday in New York when he met with Kuhn to discuss the 25-year-old right-hander's involvement in "off the field activities."

"I have no idea where they are. They're supposed to be in Lakeland but beyond that all I know is what I read in the newspapers," said a woman who answered the telephone at the McLain house Monday.

"My husband and I are friends of the McLains and we are staying at their house while they're away," she said.

Earlier an officer from the Southfield District Court went to the house in connection with a hearing set for Monday concerning alleged nonpayment of rent on the home. He reported that no one answered his knock and, therefore, a subpoena was tacked to the door ordering McLain to appear in court Wednesday.

McLain had previously been ordered to appear in Circuit Court in Flint Monday concerning a suit in which he and another man were ordered to pay more than $7,000 to Citizens Commercial & Savings Bank.

Citizens Bank is suing McLain and a suburban Farmington man, Edwin K. Schober, claiming they executed a promissory note for $7,000 on July 26, 1968, for a loan in that amount.

Last October, Circuit Judge John W. Baker entered a default judgment in the amount of $7,321, which included interest at seven per cent in favor of the bank.

The bank filed an affidavit last month declaring it had not received any money from the judgment. Judge Baker then ordered McLain and Schober to appear in court Monday.

McLain, who won 55 games for Detroit the past two seasons, has received considerable publicity on various other financial troubles in which he has become involved.

His salary is estimated to be $90,000 a year from the Tigers but McLain has said his income "from all sources, referring to his many business interests, is about $200,000 a year."

He recently took out a $30,000 debt consolidation loan from Detroit Bank and Trust Co. and under the terms about $5,000 monthly of McLain's Tigers pay will be sent directly to the bank through July 15.

Tiger officials have steadfastly declined comment on any of the McLain matters.

It is known that the often brash hurler met last week with James Ritchie, head of a Detroit-based U.S. Justice Department task force handling an investigation of organized crime and gambling.

Ed Demetrak, McLain's former business manager, says the pitcher talked to federal authorities because their investigation "deals with people Denny may have known."

He said McLain has done nothing illegal.

Northern Loses 98-88 Decision

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Lutheran turned on the full-court press to overcome a 50-43 halftime deficit and beat Northern Michigan 98-88 in basketball Monday.

Lutheran's Nolan Street led all scorers with 30 points and 19 rebounds. George Barber was high for Northern with 15 points.

Debating Team Posts 3-3 Mark In Marquette

The MHS varsity debating team posted a 3-3 record in the Upper Peninsula Championship Debates held in Marquette Feb. 13 and 14. Junior varsity debaters came out of competition with a 4-2 record, according to coach Marvin Frederickson.

The varsity affirmative team of Beth Stoltzfus and Mary McLaughlin defeated Ironwood, but lost to Newberry and Ishpeming. Kevin Smith and Mary Stoll, varsity negative, defeated Gladstone and Menominee but lost to Iron Mountain.

Two victories and two defeats were posted by Sharon Frederickson and John Carlson, affirmative, and Cindy Johnson and Gail Schwartz, negative, in junior varsity competition.

Gail Schwartz and Cindy Johnson placed third and fourth, respectively, in the selection of the top five speakers in reserve debating. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schwartz, 639 Manistique Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, 645 Garden Ave. John Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sagwald Carlson, 724 Oak St., won a certificate of excellence for speaking ability.

Frederickson said he was very proud of the record compiled by his squad this year. The varsity won 12 and lost 6; the reserves tally 15 wins and three losses.

"It has been a real pleasure working with these students," Frederickson said. "They are hard workers and students who give their best each time they debate."

Negaunee won the U.P. varsity championship with Ishpeming placing second.

Snowmobile Mishap Breaks Man's Foot

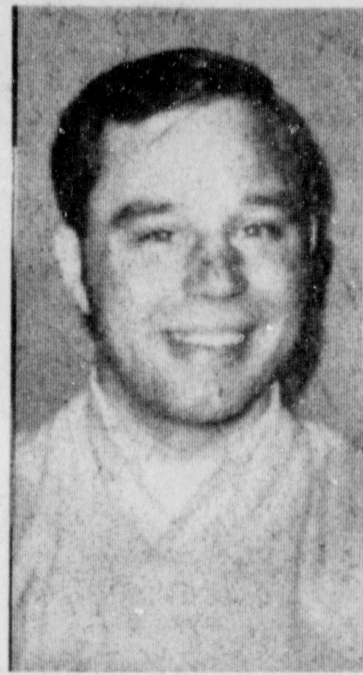

Two mishaps involving snowmobiles, with one operator hospitalized with a broken right foot, were reported by Michigan State Police.

Troopers said Richard Immonen of Cooks was injured when his snowmobile was struck by another machine operated by Donald Neadow of Cocks at 5 p.m. Saturday on a snowmachine trail in Inwood Township. The mishap occurred when Immonen made a right turn in front of the Neadow machine and Neadow was unable to stop.

A snowmachine driven by Leo Cameron Jr., Rte. 1, came out of a private driveway on Glenview Drive, Manistique Township, and struck a moving car driven by Floyd Houghton, Rte. 1, at 2:35 Friday afternoon, troopers said. No injuries were reported.

Public Safety officers investigated a mishap in the 200 block of N. Houghton at 3:45 Thursday afternoon. An auto-

Car Insurance Reduction Plans Nixed By Lawyers

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's auto insurers are split sharply over a plan that state officials said would drop New York State premiums by an estimated 56 per cent by eliminating the basis of costly lawsuits.

Some lawyers oppose the plan, saying it would cost them much of their practice.

Plan Explained

Under the plan, backed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, auto owners would insure themselves for any injuries suffered by themselves or their passengers regardless of who is at fault in an accident. Owners also would be able, but would not be required, to insure their own cars against damage. Property damage liability, exclusive of damage to cars, would continue as at present.

Under present law the driver found to be at fault pays. The process involves lengthy and sometimes costly lawsuits.

Rights Not Impaired

"New York's system can be made more responsive to today's needs without stripping the public of vital rights of recovery, or shifting the insurance cost burden from the guilty to the innocent," the National Association of Independent Insurers said Monday.

The association, which claims 362 members and over 50 per cent of the nation's auto insurance market, said the plan would make New Yorkers "guinea pigs for radical experimentation."

Company Agrees

However, the American Insurance Association, which claims more than 125 members and 30 per cent of the market, said, "From what we have seen of the proposal, we would agree with its general conclusions. Editorial reaction of the nation's press in the past year substantiates our belief that such a major reform is in the public interest."

The AIA added that similar proposals had been introduced in legislatures in California, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan and Minnesota.

Against Program

The American Mutual Insurance Alliance, which claims 115 members and about 10 per cent of the market, said, "We don't think this plan can be taken seriously as a publicly acceptable reform of the auto insurance system. It invites negligent drivers to smash your car and injure your family at your own expense."

The plan was presented Friday by the New York State Insurance Department and endorsed two days later by Rockefeller. The governor said he would try to persuade the legislature to adopt the system, but did not expect success this year.

Premiums Lower

Premiums would go down, according to the Insurance Department, because legal fees would be reduced and duplication of medical benefits eliminated.

The New York State branch of the American Trial Lawyers Association, which claims 3,600 members, said the public probably would find itself paying premiums both to a health insurance company and an automobile insurance company for auto protection.

It added that the proposal "probably would cost most lawyers a very substantial portion of their practice."

UAW Members Air 1970 Contract Goals

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers are asking members of the union to consider a list of proposed goals, which include "a substantial wage increase" and some form of profit sharing, for 1970 contract negotiations with the Big Three automakers.

The list was contained in a nine-page message from the UAW's International Executive Board to the union's 1.85 million active and retired members in the current issue of the union's monthly magazine, "Solidarity."

The union's collective bargaining goals for 1970 negotiations will be drawn up at the union's annual convention April 20-25 at Atlantic City.

"We would like to share with you our thoughts concerning a number of issues that in our judgement warrant serious consideration in developing the UAW 1970 collective bargaining program," the board told union members.

The proposals include:

- A substantial wage increase.
- Eliminating the current annual ceiling on the annual cost-of-living wage increase and converting the pay hike from annual to a quarterly basis.
- A year end cash bonus "to provide equity for the workers out of the profits of the company as is now provided for executives."
- Establish cost-of-living protection for all retired workers.
- Revise the current supplemental unemployment benefit program under which workers are paid a portion of their wages when laid off.
- Explore the possibility of implementing an inverse seniority system which would allow workers with the most seniority to elect to take a layoff. Currently, workers with the least seniority are laid off first.

The board also proposed that the membership consider negotiating a stock purchase plan similar to that now covering supervisory personnel and that overtime be made voluntary.

Current contracts covering workers at the Big Three expire this fall and bargaining is expected to get underway in July.

U-M Dean Asks Carswell Kayo

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Francis A. Allen, dean of the University of Michigan Law School said Monday that he strongly opposes the appointment of Florida Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Allen said "there is no reason whatever for the country or the Senate to accept Judge Carswell or any other candidate with such meager credentials for membership on the Supreme Court."

The dean stressed the critical importance of the court and said that Carswell "gives little evidence of the extraordinary qualifications that a member of the court should possess."

Allen said that he did not oppose Carswell on political grounds, he said "there are literally scores of judges and distinguished lawyers of the president's own party who presumably share his political philosophy and who are genuinely qualified for membership on the court."

In the statement released Monday afternoon Allen outlined the qualifications that he thought a Supreme Court Justice should possess: "high credentials of technical legal competence, usual intelligence, a broad and accurate understanding of the problems of these difficult times and outstanding skills in articulating his views in written opinions."

Allen added that "it is in precisely these crucial areas that Judge Carswell fails."
